Tip of the Hat

Susan Bissonnette, Okemos Library Assistant, received a major accolade of the Director's Award from CADL Executive Director, Scott Duimstra.

To steal his words: "Susan has done a tremendous job of offering services and opportunities for young adults at Okemos. She partnered with area schools to promote the Student Success Initiative and themed-book boxes that she created for teens. Along with these initiatives, Susan leads the highly successful TAB (Teen Advisory Board) at Okemos. I'm so impressed with the TAB group because they're always volunteering at Okemos events. They're a highly engaged group, and that points back to Susan's leadership."

Scott also relayed to us a serious story demonstrating Susan's great work. He told us that a couple of weeks ago, a library patron collapsed at the Okemos Branch while working on the public computers. Susan quickly checked on the patron, then applied chest compressions while staff members Eric Stanton and Christ Potts worked to get first responders to the library. Susan's quick thinking and action helped to save the patron's life.

We couldn't have said this better, Scott. The Friends would like to add their acknowledgement of this honor to the tribute.

For her outstanding service to our Okemos Library patrons, not only did Susan receive a gift-card from CADL, she also was given a Tribute Luncheon from the Friends of the Okemos Library. But perhaps most fittingly, she got a hand-drawn trophy from Okemos Library Page, Riley Johnson. In all these areas, Susan Bissonnette truly captures the Okemos spirit!

From the Librarian's Desk

As the Carole King song goes ...”Winter, spring summer or fall all you have to do is call...” Or these days it’s text, or email or visit a website, a Facebook page or a Twitter account. Or talk with your family on ZOOM, FaceTime or Skype.

There are so many ways to keep in touch it’s almost too much. How many times have you said to yourself, “Did I see it in an email? And which one? Or was it a text? Or an Instant Message from”

But that’s the way it has become in our personal lives and the way it is in school and business. As the past two years have proven, we can make the technology work for us to help us feel connected with the outside world. It’s both a blessing and curse, especially when your internet crashes!

One of the main purposes of the library is to help people connect with the world outside their door. Some folks do it with books, music, or movies. Others come to the library to use the public computers, or some bring their own laptops to use the internet.

Some people use the library as a space to be a part of community. More than ever people are looking for a sense of their place in the world, and the library’s walls can provide that. Some patrons use the library just to come for programs or to pick up tax forms once in a year.

In any case, walk-in, text, call or email - - let the library help you connect with the outside world.

Curses - Foiled Again!

Each month COVID drags on, it gets more and more challenging to maintain the strong forward momentum the Friends have built in support of our beloved Okemos Library. Case in point: because of this virus, the Friends once again are unable to hold their Spring luncheon with its large following and expert speaker in May.

Still, being a hopeful and adaptive lot, the Friends are nonetheless fancying new ways to keep this popular event on our books.... like calling for an Outdoor Emergency Spring Luncheon gathering? Or perhaps, since May is still three months away, simply hoping the virus takes a deep downward turn and the gathering could commence after all? Who knows? Do stay closely tuned, we will keep you posted!

Despite that gray cloud, the sun has shone brightly in one area. Throughout this tough past year, Friends' membership numbers have remained steady. So have donations. We are all very grateful to those who made this happen. It is heart-warming to know that, despite a long period of being unable to use the Library's full services (i.e., getting into the building to browse, or do computer work), our patrons remained steadfast and loyal. That shows a level of support and trust few organizations can claim.

We are also grateful that, though the pandemic has changed much, the Friends have brought some real brightness to dreary skies. We worked at creating another golden opportunity so vital to our ability to support the Library: we have added a FIFTH BOOK SALE EVENT! In addition to finally returning to our regularly scheduled four annual book sale dates, this Fifth book sale is a real boon.

It is at a different--but convenient-- location, it is outside in mid-summer, and takes place in the fresh open air of the Old Farmer's Market Pavilion at Meridian Township Hall. Of course, this sale will continue to follow any mask mandates of Meridian Township facilities, but that didn't stop the masses of masked people who showed up last summer to make it a very successful event!

This summer the Friends will again be back at the Pavilion on Saturday and Sunday, July 30 and 31. So mark your calendar and come enjoy the opportunity to refresh your summer reading selections with new material.

Looking forward to seeing you all!

Winter Happenings at the Okemos Library

Above: The U.S. Marines picked up 8 boxes of Toys for Tots gifts from the Okemos library as part of its holiday gift drive.
